Hi, I am Yan Ting.

Regarding our conversation this afternoon, can you give us the contact of your tour guide in cambodia?

We will have 8 people going Siem Reap by AirAsia on 7 Nov morning and leaving on 11 Nov morning (5D4N). We would like to ask your tour guide whether can provide any budgeted tour packages for us. We are interested to visit the Angkor Wat, Tonle Sap & shopping in local market.

Hi Yan Ting,

The guide we have used before (and 6 more other groups we recommended) is as follows:

Kundate (pronounced 'Kun-date')

He will do an itinerary for you which will include Angkor Wat and Tonle Sap plus other places within the Angkor area. He usually charges around USD60-65 per day for a van because there is 8 of you. This would include him as a guide, a van, a driver and fuel if you are travelling within the Angkor area, which includes Angkor Wat, Ta Phrom, Preahkhan, Bayon, Angkor Thom, Pre Rup, East Mebon, to name a few. With 5 days and 4 nights, the Angkor area and Tonle Sap (plus shopping) would be enough, perhaps with an added trip further out to one or two other sights. If you go out of the Angkor area (e.g. Banteay Srei - best carvings) or want to watch the sunrise early at Angkor Wat (don't bother with the sunrise actually), there is usually an small extra charge.

I suggest that you start your tour the first day you arrive. In this way, he may include the airport transfer as well. you will need him for 4 days plus airport transfer on the 5th day (morning). Divided by 8 people, it is not a big sum. However, you will have to the Angkor pass is USD40 per person (for 3 days) and an extra USD 12 per person (If I recall) for the Tonle Sap boat ride. He will take you to buy the Angkor pass on the first day. As for tips at the end, it depends on you.

Mail me if you need further help or have questions to ask. I will also e-mail him to say that you will be contacting him. Mention that he has been recommended by Chan from Malaysia and he will know who I am.

Happy planning. Regards.

Vy Sing

Then we will not want to go Kbal Spean anymore.

From your itinerary, I notice that we are buying 3-Day Angkor pass only, but how come on Day 4 we are still able to go Taprom?

By the way, is the Phnom Bakheng worth for the sunset?

Hell Yan Ting,

Sorry I forgot on the last day and the angkor ticket is overed so I change visit Taprom to November 9 and put floating village on November 10.

Phnom Bakeing is a good spart for sunset it is pretty closed to angkorwat if we watch from the top but the problem is too many people and takes twenty minutes walk up and when we walk down is dark because the sun is already gone.

On November 7 receiving you from Airport ; Bayon temple;lunch;terrace of elephant ;Prakhan.

November 8 :Banteaysamre;Bantesysrey;Lunch;Mebon;Prerup.

November 9 sunrise +Angkorwat (leaving hotel at 5am) Taprom ; Lunch; Takov;Bsnteaykley;

November 10: Floating village ;Lunch ;Shopping.

November 11: transfer to airport .

Hi Kundate,

We only need 3 days(7/11-9/11) guide. We now want to visit Angkor Wat for the first 2.5Day, then follow by floating village (0.5Day).

We tried to fit the places that we want to go as below, is this possible?

Nov 7: Hotel to Bayon, Angkor Thom, Terrace of elephant, Lunch, Preah Khan, Neak Pean, Ta Som, sunset~Phnom Bakheng.

Nov 8: Banteay Samre, Banteay Srei, Lunch, Takeo, Banteay Kdei, Mebon, Prerup.

Nov 9: Sunrise + Angkor wat (leaving hotel at 5am) Taprom, Lunch, Floating village.

I think our hotel will provide free pickup, we can meet at hotel directly, so no need to pick us up from Airport. We are still interested to visit Phnome Bakheng for the sunset.

Can you give us discount? What is the price for the 3 days?

Regards,
Yan Ting
